

I can not see my course menu when I go into my class on Blackboard. I can only see the Announcements! How do I fix this?

1. Click the My Courses tab and then click the link to the class you are trying to access.

2. Move your mouse pointer over the blue line to the very left side of the page.

Announcements

Welcome to Online Learner Preparation

Posted on: Monday, August 12, 2013 11:10:31 AM EDT

Am I required to take this orientation?

- This is a required training, if you plan to enroll in your first online or hybrid course, you will be issued for this orientation and it will not affect your GPA in any way.

How do I start?

- The course menu (the red buttons that appear to the left) will be your navigation tool. Watch the recorded tutorial below that will show you how the requirement works.
- If you need assistance, please visit the Discussion Board.
- You can also watch the recorded tutorial below that will show you how the requirement works.

After you complete the comprehensive assessment in

Please click here for the video transcript

Unable to display content. Adobe Flash is required.

3. An arrow pointing to the right should appear. Click on that arrow to show the course menu.

Announcements

Welcome to Online Learner Preparation

Posted on: Monday, August 12, 2013 11:10:31 AM EDT

Am I required to take this orientation?

- This is a required training, if you plan to will be issued for this orientation and it a

How do I start?

- The course menu (the red buttons that
- watch the recorded tutorial below that wil
- If you need assistance, please visit the C
- You can also watch the recorded tutorial

After you complete the cc

Please click here for the video transcript

Unable to display content. Adobe Flash is required.

4. To re-hide the course menu, place your mouse pointer over the line on the right edge of the course menu and click on the arrow that appears (this time it will be pointing left).

The image shows a Blackboard course interface. On the left is a navigation menu for the course '2013 Web Course Preparation Requirement'. The menu items are: Announcements, Discussions, Start Here, Overview, 1. Technology Skills, 2. Blackboard, 3. Readiness, 4. Assessment, My Grades, and Resources. On the right is an announcement titled 'Announcements' with the text 'Welcome to Online Learner Preparation'. Below the title is the date 'Posted on: Monday, August 12, 2013 11:10:00'. The announcement content includes the question 'Am I required to take this ori...', a bullet point stating 'This is a required training, if hybrid courses. Note that no...', the question 'How do I start?', and another bullet point 'The course menu (the red announcement. You can als...'. A red arrow points from the 'Announcements' menu item on the left to the 'How do I start?' section of the announcement. Below the announcement is the text 'After you complete the com...'. There are also icons for a folder and a refresh button at the top of the page.

Article ID: 17

Last updated: 23 Aug, 2017

Revision: 9

e-Learning (Blackboard) -> Blackboard (Student) -> I can not see my course menu when I go into my class on Blackboard. I can only see the Announcements! How do I fix this?

<https://www2.owens.edu/faq/entry/17/>